

Gen. Vaughan Admits FBI Checked Into His Activity To Hike Grain Allotments

By WARREN DUFFEE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—(UP)—Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan testified today that the FBI investigated him after a newspaper columnist charged that he interceded with the Agriculture department to get more grain for whisky distillers.

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R) of Wisconsin drew the admission from President Truman's military aide after declaring that Frank Costello, New York gambling king, and William Helis, "Golden Greek" of racing operations, were partners in a wholesale liquor business.

Gen. Vaughan yesterday testified that he was the go-between in handling about $5,000 that was collected by Helis and John Maragon for a 1946 congressional campaign in Kansas City.

Wants Statement Out

Sen. McCarthy asked to have removed from the record a statement yesterday in which McCarthy said he did not think Vaughan profited from any of his transactions.

The developments came in rapid fire order as the rebuffed officer returned for another day of cross-examination by the senate "five percent" committee.

Gen. Vaughan denied knowing that Costello, Helis and Phil Castell were partners in the Whitley Co., which McCarthy identified as a New York wholesale liquor firm.

Gen. Vaughan firmly denied ever intervening with the Agriculture department on grain matters, and specifically on behalf of the Whitley Co. or the Schenley Corp.

Sen. McCarthy said he was informed by the New York liquor board of the Costello-Helis-Castell ownership of the Whitley firm.

Gen. Vaughan admitted that Col. Cornelius J. Mara, his assistant, went to the Justice department recently to get a full report on the FBI's investigation of the general. That admission came after McCarthy threatened to have Mara sworn in and confront Vaughan with the colonel's testimony under oath.

Denies Personal Gain

The general acknowledged under sharp questioning yesterday that two recipients of his favors—Turfman Helis and Maragon—collected some $5,000 for the Democratic party in 1946. He steadfastly denied, though, that he ever took a dime for himself or did anything improper.

During yesterday's 2 1/2-hour hearing, Vaughan denied that Maragon ever told him part of the campaign money was contributed by Costello. He said he certainly would have recalled any contributions from that source.

The general said he was merely a "messenger" or "go-between" in the case of the campaign funds. He passed them on to the Democratic organization in Truman's home state of Missouri.

He said for the 1946 elections. That was the year the President waged his successful "purge" campaign against Democratic Rep. Roger C. Slaughter who had opposed many New Deal reforms.

Gen. Vaughan said that Helis turned over some $2,000 to $3,000 to Maragon. He recalled that he also received about $2,000 more collected by the mysterious former White House hanger-on.

U. S., BRITAIN MAY EASE TIE ON TITO AID

Shipments of Military Equipment May Be Answer to Moscow

LONDON, Aug. 31—(AP)—Restrictions on the sale of military equipment to Yugoslavia may be eased shortly by the U. S. and Britain, according to diplomatic officials.

They said yesterday a decision in the matter is expected when Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin meets with Secretary of State Dean Acheson in Washington soon.

British officials have been studying how they can quietly support Premier Marshal Tito's government in its quarrel with Russia and her satellites, the informants said.

Comes With Blast
This outlook of support for Tito comes at the time of Russia's latest blast against Tito. In a note yesterday the Russians accused the Yugoslav leader and his lieutenants of being deserters, double-dealers and stooges of "western masters."

One way the western powers could back up Tito's feud with Russia would be the shipment of needed arms to Yugoslavia. The shipment of such supplies to Yugoslavia has been halted by the countries of the Communist International Information bureau (Cominform).

Yugoslavia, it is believed, has asked the western powers for vehicles, light armor and small arms. Informants said the western powers would like to help Tito defy the Cominform.

If Yugoslavia can survive as an independent state, without ties to the east or west, the informants point out, an important precedent will have been set for other Communist-led countries.

Not Sure of Tito
On the other hand, the western powers, it is said, are not sure Tito can stand up to the blasts from the east, and they fear that if arms were given Yugoslavia they might ultimately fall into the hands of Communists loyal to Moscow.

But at the moment, the informants say, the western powers are inclined to take a chance. Western officials hold that if Tito is not aided quickly he may succumb to outside pressure.

There is no blanket ban by Britain or the U. S. on the sale of military goods to Communist countries. But both countries have a system of export licensing of equipment which could have military uses. Such exports could be prohibited by the government's refusal to issue the licenses.

The informants say this policy may be liberalized for Yugoslavia.

LEGION URGES DRAFT, CIVIC ATOM CONTROL

Big Issues Face Legion Convention; Parade Is Hailed 'Best Ever'

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31—(AP)—End of the peacetime draft, continued civilian control of the atom bomb under U. S. monopoly, and a strong anti-Communist law came under consideration at the 31st annual American Legion convention.

Rs gigantic 12-hour parade over, the Legion settled down to serious business on the third day of a four-day conclave.

National Commander Perry Brown, Beaumont, Tex., labeled the parade the Legion's "greatest." He said the crowd—estimated by Police Superintendent Guy E. Parsons at more than 1,500,000—was the biggest ever to view the mammoth spectacle.

But Legionnaires, despite the day-and-night funmaking still going on outside the convention hall, are determined to spell out a program their 3,000,000 members can support.

Stirs Hot Floor Battles
The major policy-making resolutions—the ones expected to stir up hot floor battles—have been drawn up by the national security, Americanism, and foreign policy committees.

Erle Cocke, Jr., 28-year-old Dawson, Ga., candidate for national commander, heads up the national security committee. He says his group is opposed to extension of the present Selective Service law beyond next June 30.

Cocke said it's possible the committee may urge the convention to adopt a resolution recommending the draft of women if congress insists on extending the draft.

The Georgian told a reporter his report will ask the Legion to go on record "against giving any of our atomic secrets or atom bombs to any country. He added: "You can quote me as saying that that means England, too."

Cocke made it clear that the committee is in favor of continuing civilian control of the nation's atomic energy program—and will so recommend.

"We have never advocated any shift to military control of the atom," Cocke said.

The Legion's national executive committee already has okayed a resolution urging aid to anti-Communist forces in China. That's expected to win convention support without opposition.

CARS COLLIDE IN FOG; TWO INJURED

Two persons were injured at 8:04 a. m. Tuesday when two cars collided head on in the fog on the St. Clair ave. extension, two and a half miles west of East Liverpool, the state highway patrol reported.

The vehicles were driven by John Falkner, 20, of R. D. 1, Rogers, and James Schamp, 38, of R. D. 3, Lisbon. Schamp was passing another car in the fog and hit Falkner's car, coming from the opposite direction.

Schamp sustained slight lacerations of the lips, but a passenger in Falkner's car, John Lunge, 20, of R. D. 1, Negley, had severe lacerations of the lips and about the face. His head was pushed through the windshield.

Both were taken to East Liverpool City hospital for treatment. Both cars were total wrecks, the patrol said.

Schamp was arrested for passing without the assured clear distance and found guilty in East Liverpool municipal court.

Need Weatherman's Help To Qualify Air Race Entries

By JAMES J. STREIBIG
Associated Press Aviation Reporter

CLEVELAND, Aug. 31—(AP)—National Air Race officials looked to the weatherman today for help in carrying out the qualifying flights for next weekend's big program.

A rainstorm cut off the last hour of yesterday's operations, after but five of about 60 entries had flown the required two laps. The five were trying to place in the starting list of ten in the Thompson trophy race for $16,000 first prize to be run Labor day. The best average was 396 miles an hour, compared with the record qualifying speed of 418 mph marked up last year.

None Turn Course

None of the three dozen mid-gut racers in the Goodyear classic turned the course, and none of the women pilots tried to qualify for their special race to be run on Sunday. The rules call for completion of qualifying flights by 5 p. m. Thursday, but another day will be allowed if rain prevents operations either today or tomorrow.

Those who qualified yesterday get $100 each for promptness. The lure is $50 for those who make it today, with nothing offered to-morrow.

Yesterday's qualifiers and their speeds included:
Benjamin W. McKillen, Jr., of Willoughby, Ohio, 396.2 mph in an F2G Corsair. He is 33 and a new comer to big time racing.

Wilson V. Newhall of Chicago, at 49 the oldest racing pilot, 387.4 mph in a North America F-51 Mustang.

Steve Beville of Hammond, Ind., 385.7 mph in a Mustang.

Kenneth C. Cooley of Houston, Tex., also a new comer in the national, 378.8 in a Mustang.

May Qualify Two
James P. Hagerstrom of Houston, 360.8 mph in a Lockheed F-38 Lightning. His plane and Cooley's are entries of the J. D. Reed company, and the two pilots may qualify in both planes.

None of the early qualifiers looked like Thompson race winners. It is generally conceded that 400 mph or better will be needed unless an epidemic such as downed seven or ten starters last year should recur.

Even that speed looks relatively slow compared with an expected 600 mph or better in the jet division of the Thompson to be flown by Air Force pilots in North American F-86 Sabres, holder of the world speed record at 670 mph.

Air Force officials report that the pilots have been practicing on a duplicate of the seven-leg 15-mile Thompson course at Muroc airbase in California—and doing better than 600 mph. The jets will make only ten laps, while the piston engine planes will do 15 laps. Last year the race was run at 20 laps on a rectangular course.

High School Set For New Term

Close to 800 students are expected when Salem High school re-opens its doors at 8:30 a. m. next Wednesday after the summer vacation period.

Principal B. G. Ludwig said today Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors already have signed up for their courses and will be given assignments on the first day.

All new pupils who have moved into town and who expect to attend Salem High school, and have not turned in a list of subjects they expect to take, should report to the principal's office tomorrow morning.

At 1:15 p. m. Tuesday Freshmen will meet in the high school auditorium where they will be given home room assignments and other information about any High school procedure. Upper classmen, new at Salem High school, also should attend this meeting.

On Wednesday, students should go directly to their home rooms, where they will receive a copy of their daily program of recitations and study halls. After a short home room period, the schedule of classes and study halls will be run.

Enrollment on the opening day last year was 784. This number grew to 816 before the year was over, largely due to new pupils moving into the city from other communities.

SENATE PUSHES WAGE MINIMUM

Big Fight Is Anticipated Today: Lucas Calls Earlier Session

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—(AP)—After taking one setback, senate leaders pressed confidently today for a vote by nightfall on a bill putting a 75-cent-an-hour floor under wages.

Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois called the senate into session an hour earlier than usual in an effort to complete the action.

The present fair labor standards act sets a minimum wage for covered workers of 40 cents an hour. The bill before the senate, like one already passed by the house, would hike this to 75 cents.

Several amendments had to be acted on before the senate could finish with the bill.

Major Fight Seen

The major fight was expected over a proposal by Senator Ellender (D-La.) to set the minimum at 65 cents an hour until the end of 1950, then gear it to living costs as measured by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. It couldn't go below 55 cents or above 75.

Ellender told a reporter he was hopeful of winning approval for his amendment, but Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), leading the fight for the administration, predicted its defeat.

The administration took a licking last night when the senate adopted, 50 to 23, an amendment offered by Senator Holland (D-Fla.) and others which Pepper said would take about 200,000 workers out from under the law.

Holland insisted that his amendment made no changes not intended by congress when it wrote the wage and hour law a decade ago.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) agreed. He said the amendment would exclude some workers from coverage only because administrators of the law had "steadily encroached" on the exemptions originally intended.

Under the amendment, retail and service establishments would be exempted from the wage-hour law under most conditions if more than 50 per cent of their annual volume of sales were made within the state where they are located.

The committee will make a formal request to council Tuesday asking the solons to bring about the program as set up after considerable study. Chairman George Chappell will make the report for the committee.

Suggested By-Passes

Among the suggestions are plans to re-route Route 45 traffic off E. State st., carrying it on N. Lincoln ave. to E. Third st., on Third st. to N. Ellsworth and out of the city on Ellsworth.

Also suggested is a similar transfer to Route 62 traffic, turning it on E. Third off N. Lincoln st., and carrying through to Jennings ave. and then south to W. State st., thus avoiding the business area.

The Route 62 plan is provisional, however, requiring the completion of a through Third st. from Howard to Jennings avenues and also requiring widening of W. Third st., between N. Ellsworth and Howard avenues.

E. and W. Third streets would be changed to a "through" category from Jennings ave. to Brooklyn ave., including the installation of new traffic lights at Third and Ellsworth, Third and Jennings ave. Highland ave. and N. Union ave. would become "stop" streets.

Another major item in the planned change would involve purchase of property from the American Legion to widen and straighten out the intersection of S. Lincoln ave. and E. State st.

Chappell also said the committee recommends the employment of a qualified traffic engineer to survey Salem for additional improvements. This, he said, will be done if the cost of such service is not prohibitive.

The Program

1. Change angle parking to parallel parking on S. Broadway from E. Pershing to Euclid.

2. No parking on east side of N. Ellsworth ave. from E. Second st. to E. Fourth st.

3. No parking on west side of S. Lincoln ave. from E. State to Franklin.

4. No parking on Jennings ave. from W. State st. to W. Third.

5. Installation of parking meters on both sides of N. Lincoln ave. from Sugartree alley to E. Second.

6. Installation of parking meters on east side of S. Lincoln ave. from Legion alley to E. Pershing.

7. Direct Route 45 traffic from E. State st. to E. Third.

8. Direct Route 62 traffic from E. State st. to E. Third.

9. Continue W. Third st. through from Howard to Jennings.

10. Widen W. Third st. from N. Ellsworth to Howard.

11. Widen curbs at W. State and Jennings ave., E. Third st. and N. Ellsworth ave., and E. Third st. and N. Lincoln ave.

12. Purchase footage from American Legion to increase size of intersection at S. Lincoln ave. and E. State st.

13. Install traffic lights at W. State st. and Jennings ave., W. Third st. and Jennings ave., and E. Third st. and N. Ellsworth ave.

It Was Planned This Way

A current roundup of price-support spending shows that public money now is being used to hold up the prices of eggs, butter, cheese, potatoes and milk. All of these items are high-priced enough to lift the eyebrows of food buyers. All of them, without price support, would come down in price.

Take eggs, for example. They are currently selling at upward of six cents apiece and hard to get at any price. But this isn't because of any shortage of eggs. In its planned policy of keeping the price of eggs higher than it needs to be, the government has spent millions of dollars of public money to buy millions of dozens of eggs, to create an artificial scarcity. The government has more eggs stored than anyone can ever get eaten. Meanwhile, it's still buying more eggs, to make certain that consumers will have to pay artificially high prices for the ones left in the market. The surplus will be wasted.

It's the same with butter, cheese, potatoes and milk—all of them commanding artificially high prices in the market because of government purchases. And in the near future, the government expects to buy pork, turkeys and chickens, to make certain that consumers don't get a chance to buy them at lower prices either. It was planned this way by politicians solicitous of farm votes and will be kept this way until politicians learn that consumers have votes too.

No Crime In That

Chances are 50 to 1 against anything coming out of the "5 percent" investigation except the fetid odor of low ethics in high places. There's no crime in that.

In the present state of the union it's doubtful if there is even political dynamite in it. There has been a systematic debasement of political morals that has wilted the public conscience.

Unwritten laws against things that weren't done in high places have been repealed one after another in recent years. They have been supplanted by a new code of behavior. Its master rule is that anything goes, if you can get away with it.

It's apparent that Harry Vaughan's standard explanation for his behavior as a presidential aide is going to be that he saw nothing wrong in what he was doing. That's the gist of his first day's testimony before senate investigators, and it will be hard to prove the witness actually did anything wrong in a strictly legal sense.

There have been times when the line between right and wrong was not drawn in a strictly legal sense. It was drawn according to moral precepts. There were some things that simply weren't done because they wouldn't pass public inspection. It didn't take a Teapot Dome scandal to steam up the public conscience. The merest hint of impropriety in high places could do it. Today it's doubtful if another Teapot Dome scandal could do it.

No Offense Intended

When Ernest Bevin and Sir Stafford Cripps come here on their vital mission of getting more American dollars to cover up the weakness of British socialism, there will be no official American criticism of the labor government's policies. President Truman has made that clear.

But in the remote event the two Britons don't understand Mr. Truman is so sensitive to home-grown criticism of British socialism, one other thing should be made clear.

The purpose of the criticism is not to question the right of the British to have the kind of government they want. It's not a question of international inference. Rather, the purpose is to warn Americans against making the mistake of letting their own government sneak in state socialism by the back door. When Americans point out the weaknesses of British socialism, they are talking to their own government, as Mr. Truman and his leftist advisers well know.

As far as criticism of British socialism per se is concerned, no American could begin to do as good a job on that score as the Britons are doing themselves. They know what's wrong with it from first-hand experience. Geoffrey Crother, editor of the Economist of London, recently told United States News & World Report that his country needed a moral revolution. "We have slipped into believing the world not merely owes us a living," he said, "but that the world will meet its obligations and provide us with a living." That is not, of course, solely applicable to Britain. It might also be said about the United States. Which may help Mr. Bevin and Sir Stafford to understand why American criticism directed at their labor party's socialist policies are really directed at the same policies being hatched out in the incubator of state socialism in Washington.

Three Votes Short

Because three votes were lacking for a two-thirds majority, congress will not go into the record in favor of government economy during the current fiscal year.

Several billion dollars will be spent needlessly, in the sense that if a few senators had voted for economy instead of against it the money could have been saved. There will be a corresponding addition to the national debt, plus interest charges, plus the momentum of an expanding rate of federal spending. And all this happened because of a parliamentary technicality growing out of an accidental circumstance in a senate vote.

The issue was whether or not an amendment requiring President Truman to cut government expenses from 5 to 10 per cent should be passed as part of the senate bill authorizing expenditures of $14,800,000,000 for national defense. Vice President Barkley ruled that a two-thirds vote was necessary. The amendment was backed by 49 votes, with 18 votes opposed. But 52 votes were necessary for a two-thirds majority. They have been forthcoming from the 19 senators who weren't registered. Or another ruling might not have made them necessary at all. As things stand, the economy drive in the 81st congress has bogged down in a technicality.

Guarding Your Health

By DR. HERMAN BUNDSON

There are almost as many causes of itching of the skin as there are people. We are all familiar with the type of itching due to outside sources, such as the bite of an insect or contact with an irritating substance, but not so many realize that itching may also be one of the manifestations of disease.

It is, for instance, very common among people suffering from liver disturbances, particularly in those who develop jaundice, the greenish-yellow discoloration of the skin which is so frequently seen in certain liver disorders. Itching may also occur in liver disease even though no jaundice is present.

Certain Groups

There is a certain group of people who seem to develop an itchy sensation of the skin very readily from a great variety of causes. In them, almost any type of excitement, as well as heat, cold, sunshine, and injury can bring on an attack of itching. Such people are thought to be oversensitive to a substance, called acetylcholine, which is released in the skin as a result of any of the causes mentioned above.

Allergy or oversensitivity is a frequent cause of itching of the skin. Sometimes, the reaction takes place in the outer layer of the skin. In other instances, the reaction is in the walls of the blood vessels of the deeper layers of the skin and may result in the formation of hives. In both types, the substances producing allergic reactions reach the skin through the blood stream and, in either instance, the itching may occur without any visible changes in the skin. Such preparations as benadryl and pyribenzamine, which are known as anti-histamine drugs, are useful in the treatment.

Another cause of itching skin is a disturbance of the circulation. This often happens in the legs when varicose veins are present. Tumor growths, particularly of the stomach and bowel, also may cause generalized itching.

Lymph Glands

A disorder affecting the lymph glands and known as Hodgkin's disease may often be accompanied by very severe itching. In fact, the itching may be the first symptom of the disorder to appear.

Treatment of generalized itching depends, of course, to some extent on the cause. Sometimes the preparations which stimulate the circulation may be helpful.

In cases of itching skin without a rash, there is always need for a thorough study to determine the factor which may be responsible. Then the treatment which may be most effective in eliminating these causes may be utilized.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

J. N.: What would cause bad odor of a child's breath?

Answer: There are several causes for a disagreeable odor to the breath. It might be that the child is constipated even though he has a bowel movement daily. It may be that he has a chronic infection of the teeth, tonsils or of the nasal sinuses. He should be examined by a nose and throat specialist to be sure that nothing is wrong in this respect.

OHIO CONTINUES GOOD CROP REPORTS

COLUMBUS, Aug. 31—(UP)—Growth of crops continued to be very good on Ohio farms for the week ended Aug. 23, in spite of some adverse conditions, the weather bureau here reported today.

The general situation across the state appears to be about as good as it was a week ago. However, there are limited areas in which it has been too dry for pastures and the ground has been hard to plow, mostly in southern and eastern Ohio. Weather officials said.

Corn was mostly in the more advanced earing stages and appeared to be filling well. Soybeans were thrifty, large and well podded. Some soybeans already were being cut in Gallia county.

Tomatoes were near the peak of production in the north and east that stage in the extreme south.

A summary of farm conditions from various points included: At Greenville: Farmers started taking in tobacco; canneries processing tomatoes.

Lima: Pastures good; plenty of water in creeks; more milk; corn and soybeans good; early potatoes damaged by blight; tomato canneries opening.

Van Wert: Farm work well in hand; fall plowing under way, ground now in good condition to work; sweet, red and Alsike clover seed crops still appear light; tomato prospects excellent; many fields ripening; permanent pastures brown; spring seeding of clovers looks good.

Cambridge: Plenty of rain making good pastures.

Charged With Arson

13-YEAR POLIO VICTIM OFFERS ADVICE TO NOVICE

(Editor's note — Frederick B. Snite, Jr., 38, famed for his fight against polio, has been in an iron lung for 13 years and five months. His family says he is in excellent condition. Since he has been stricken he has married his college sweetheart and now has three daughters. He prepared the following dispatch as a message of encouragement to all victims of the present polio outbreak.)

By FREDERICK B. SNITE, Jr., Written For The United Press
BRainerd, Minn., Aug. 31 — For those persons, young and old, who are suffering from infantile paralysis. I have this advice:

"Trust in God and all will be well."

I have followed this advice myself for more than 13 years, and it has never failed me yet.

When I was stricken in China in 1936, I was taken to the Peking Union Medical college which provided an iron lung. It was the only iron lung in all Asia at that time. It could only have been divine providence that cared for my needs in that region so remote from my own country.

Now I have progressed to the point where I can leave my iron lung for as long as four hours by using a home-made portable respirator. The portable lung is especially helpful when I play bridge tournaments such as the one in which I am now participating at a resort near Brainerd.

To those persons who have not contracted infantile paralysis, but who are afraid they or their loved ones will do so, I would offer the same message: "Place your faith in God. Know that he is with you in whatever you are doing."

There are many good, common-sense rules that can be followed to minimize the possibility of contracting infantile paralysis.

Everyone—especially children—should keep as well-rested as possible. They should avoid fatigue, because fatigue cuts down the resistance of even the most healthy person.

There is no need for hysteria when the word polio is mentioned. Doctors tell me it is a fairly rare disease—that it affects no more than one person in six thousand. And if those who do contract it, three out of four recover completely.

These then, should be the rules for all to follow, whether or not they are sufferers from infantile paralysis:

Be sensible.
Keep calm.
Trust completely in God.
I cannot emphasize too strongly the power of prayer. Those of us who have called on God for help to carry on know that he supplies it abundantly.

Sens. Taft, Bricker Vote On Senate Rules Issue

the economy directive for President Truman.

The procedure required a two-thirds vote. The vote was 43 for suspending and 29 against. Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) was reported as favoring suspension of the rules, but was not paired.

Taft voted with the minority as the senate rejected a proposal to forbid the armed services from buying oleomargarine or butter substitutes. The vote was 41 against the amendment and 31 for it with Senator Bricker not voting.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—This is a brief explanation of what has happened and why in the five-percenter case.

That case reaches a peak tomorrow when Major General Harry H. Vaughan, military aide to President Truman, testifies at a public senate committee hearing.

The committee has been investigating five-percenters for two months. It's been holding public hearings three weeks. Vaughan's name has run through the case from the beginning.

Witnesses at the hearings have said he used his White House position to get special favors for firms and individuals in dealing with the government.

No one has accused him of breaking any law or receiving any fee for anything he did. He has been pictured so far as a "Mr. Fixit."

Nor has anyone suggested that President Truman knew anything about Vaughan's activities in behalf of friends or firms.

This is how the story came about.

BIG CORPORATIONS HAVE large Washington staffs to keep them informed of dealings with the government, particularly about getting government contracts.

Small businessmen can't afford such staffs. Because of the great complexity of government they have difficulty in knowing whom to see or what to do when they want contracts.

So many of them have to depend on men who know their way around Washington and, for a fee, such as five-percent, guide them in getting contracts.

But—there's a difference between five-percenters who act as guides and clearers-of-red-tape and those who charge such a fee on the grounds that they can help a businessman get a contract through "influence."

The senate investigation is aimed—according to Senator Hoey, North Carolina Democrat and chairman of the investigating committee—at the five-percent "influence peddlers."

On June 21 The New York Herald-Tribune published a story given it by Paul Grindle, former Herald-Tribune reporter but now head of a furniture manufacturing company in Framingham, Mass.

He said he met James V. Hunt, former Army officer and former government employee, who calls himself a "management counselor." Grindle says Hunt told him he has "only one thing to sell and that is influence." (Hunt denies he said it.)

Grindle said Hunt told him his influence came from his close friendship with Vaughan, his "dearest friend," and that he, Hunt, was a welcome guest at the White House.

Grindle said he signed a contract with Hunt, agreeing to give Hunt a fee for helping him get government contracts. With the publication of that story, the senate investigation began.

HUNT HIMSELF hasn't testified at any public hearing. His doctors have said he's too ill to do that for at least another month. But there's been a stream of other witnesses: Businessmen, government officials, and Army officers.

What they had to say revolved around Hunt or Vaughan. Here are just three items from testi-

Ed Lunken . . . in the Bendix.

Joe DeBona . . . in the Bendix.

Cook Cleland . . . Thompson Trophy pilot.

Bill Odom . . . Thompson Trophy pilot.

VETERAN RACERS who will compete in the annual Los Angeles-to-Cleveland Bendix event of the National Air Races, starting Sept. 3, include Ed Lunken and Joe DeBona. Lunken will race an F-51 entered by Paul Mantz of Burbank, Cal. DeBona, from Beverly Hills, Cal., will pilot his own F-51 entry. In the tough Thompson Trophy pylon race, former winner Cook Cleland of Cleveland, who holds the Thompson record, will compete in his F2G Corsair against round-the-world flyer Bill Odom and two dozen others. Odom, Teterboro, N. J., will fly Jacqueline Cochran's F-51. (International)

mony of witnesses about Vaughan:

1. That Vaughan asked Housing Expediter Tighe Woods to hurry up a permit for building materials for the Tanaford race-track in California when building materials were scarce and veterans needed homes. The track got the materials.

2. That Vaughan tried to pressure an agriculture department employee into letting a molasses company have more sugar than it was entitled to under a government ruling.

3. That Vaughan and a number of other people heighten the government got deep-freezers for free through a perfume company which paid the bill for them.

This perfume company was a client of one of the strangest figures in the case, John Maragon, a native of Greece and a former Kansas City bootblack who had a White House pass.

One document in the case was a note from Vaughan to the State department to get clearance for Maragon for a trip to Italy.

Called to testify, Maragon said he knew Vaughan but refused to answer almost every other question on the grounds that to answer might incriminate him.

Farmers' Share Of Income Down

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—The agriculture department reports that the farmers' share of the retail food dollar has slumped to its lowest point in nearly seven years.

The latest drop occurred in June when farmers received only 48 cents of every dollar spent by American consumers.

June also marked the third consecutive month during which farmers have received less than half of the consumer's dollar.

The latest figure is seven cents below the record high which farmers received in January, 1948, and four cents less than the year-ago level.

The department attributed the steady slice in farmers' margins over the last year to a general cut in retail food prices and a jump in marketing charges. The agency added:

"Farm prices have absorbed the greater part of both the increases and the decreases in retail prices."

During the past twelve months, the department said that retail farm food prices fell about seven per cent, marketing charges increased one per cent and farm prices slumped about 14 per cent.

However, the American farmer is still far better off today than he was during 1935-39 when his share of the food dollar averaged only 40 cents. In 1932, it reached a record low of 32 cents.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31—(AP)—Will the colleague campus of the future be a telephone booth? Could be.

This fall the University of Illinois college of dentistry in Chicago will provide postgraduate courses for some 7,000 dentists who won't be in Chicago. They will be in 135 other cities getting their instruction by telephone.

The idea started in 1947 when Dr. Saul Levy, a Scranton, Pa., dentist called Dr. Robert G. Kessel at the university dental school here. Dr. Levy said he wanted to attend the postgraduate course on control of tooth decay but couldn't spare the time to travel to Chicago.

Gets Answer

"Why," he asked, "can't I hear the lectures by telephone?"

The result: Dr. Levy and 19 other Scranton dentists met in the Chamber of Commerce building on class nights, got out lantern slides and charts that had come in the mail, hooked an amplifier to the telephone, and listened. They didn't miss a word.

Word of the innovation got around in the profession. Other dentists in towns outside of the big dental school centers became interested. Classes-by-wire were brought to dentists in Scranton and New Iberia, La., in the spring of 1948. There was a six city hookup in Illinois last fall.

But that was only a starter—and a small one, at that. The university, starting Oct. 10, will put on a postgraduate educational series that will reach 136 cities in 38 states and two in Canada over telephone lines.

There will be one session a month for six months. Each will start at 8:30 p. m. Eastern Standard time and will last two hours. They will originate at the University of Illinois Chicago campus.

Current Advances Told

There will be a different subject each month but the general theme is "current advances in dentistry." The object is to bring dentists up to date on the latest developments in their field.

Six speakers will be heard on each program. They are research men, teachers, practicing dentists and specialists from a score of cities and universities. Each will speak six or seven minutes. A round-table discussion will follow.

Dr. Isaac Schour, director of postgraduate studies at the University of Illinois dental school, figures 7,000 dentists will be on the listening end. Each pays $10 for the full series. They will gather about loud speakers in dental society quarters or meet in rooms in their home towns.

"This is mass professional education by an all-star faculty," Dr. Schour said. "It will be on a national basis. If and when the mechanics are worked out, it may become international."

"Most dentists can't come to a university, so now the university comes to the dentist."

"Every profession—medicine, engineering and the others—has a similar postgraduate problem. This may be the answer."

ANDERSON, Ind.—(UP)—Police history was made in this Hoosier city when police raided a dice game instead of their usual dice game. Dice were loosed on rotating wheels and customers were betting on which numbered compartments they would run into.

Seek Court Aid In Canton Strike

CANTON, Aug. 31—(AP)—Attorney for 12 striking janitors fired by the Canton school board reported today they were considering legal action in protest.

The 12, members of the AFL Union of Operating Engineers, were dismissed under the state Ferguson act banning strikes by public employees.

Louis S. Belkin, attorney for the union, said he thought the men had been deprived of their constitutional rights to seek redress for grievances.

The janitors quit work last Wednesday in an effort to force recognition of the union. Belkin said the union represented about 70 of 104 maintenance workers employed by the school board. He said the strike had been approved by the union members, but they had decided to strike at first at only a limited number of school buildings.

School board officials, however, contended that 85 of the men had signed statements saying they would not support the strike.

Urge Truckers To Keep Vehicles Idle Labor Day

COLUMBUS, Aug. 31—(UP)—The Ohio Trucking association today urged truckers to keep trucks off the roads during the Labor day weekend.

G. W. Rosencrans, managing director of the association, urged truckers to "make every effort to confine truck transportation to emergency shipments and to perishables."

Rosencrans also urged truck operators to request drivers to extend "every possible" courtesy of the road to other highway users.

FARM NEWS OF LOCAL INTEREST...

To Spike Feed

Have you heard about APF? It is short for animal protein factor. This discovery may offer a new way for farmers to spike feed of hogs and poultry.

Nobody knows exactly what APF is, but scientists believe vitamin B-12 is a part of APF. They think APF may be made up of B12 and one or more unknown vitamins. These substances have been in feeds and foods since time began. But scientists only recently discovered them, and are busy learning how to make them synthetically and how to use them.

APF is in milk, meat, fish and other animal source protein foods and feeds. It is the stuff which makes tankage, meat scraps, fish meal, dried milk and other processing by-products good supplements for hog and poultry gains. It supplies the extra kick which makes better gains than such plant proteins as soybean, cottonseed, linseed and other plant source meals.

Experimenters like C. C. Culbertson, Iowa State college, want to see if APF will make proteins of vegetable origin do the work of animal source proteins. He points out that if $70 soybean meal can be made to do the job of $110 tankage, the supplement should save a lot of money. There never have been enough animal proteins for everybody to balance rations, so APF may increase the supply of grain balancers for hogs and poultry.

In Iowa and Missouri trials,

pigs that got synthetic B12 in rations required less feed to make 100 pounds of gain than those fed an all-plant ration and the same diet supplemented by fish solubles or distillers solubles. Chickens that got APF concentrate grew faster than birds on a ration without animal protein. Practical tests on farms have been set up to test rations fortified by the new synthetic supplement.

Boyle's Column

By ED CREAGH
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK. — (AP) — When James Keller says he's out to change the world, a lot of people listen.

For one thing, he's a big, quietly persuasive Catholic priest with a no-nonsense air about him. He resembles his friend Spencer Tracy.

For another thing, he's a best-selling author who has banded more than 100,000 Catholics, Protestants and Jews into a movement called the Christophers.

Their aim, in their own words: To change the world.

"The U. S.," Father Keller says, "is being undermined by a fanatical group of men and women who hate God and sneer at the Declaration of Independence, with its stress on our God-given rights."

"We want to stop this."

"And we hope to do it by putting men and women of good will into jobs where they can be a force for good and order."

"There has been too much shouting against 'subversives'."

"The time is here for action—for offering something better than the subversives can offer."

The Christophers are in the news on several fronts:

A novel which won the $15,000 first prize in their literary contest has just been published. Its title is "Call It Treason." The author, George Howe, is a Protestant.

The Christophers are trying to establish training schools in all parts of the country, to guide "men and women of good will" into key jobs where they can make their influence felt.

And Father Keller himself is reading final proofs on a new book, "Three Minutes A Day," to be published by Doubleday in October. His last book, "You Can Change the World," sold 200,000 copies.

I went to see Father Keller because I had been hearing a good deal about misunderstanding and bad feeling among religious groups, and I wanted to know if there was another side to the story.

The man in the Roman collar is sure that there is.

"The Christophers," he said, "are people of all faiths. Some have no particular faith."

"We're all sorts of people—housewives, actors, employers, union officials . . .

"We concentrate on a few fields—teaching, government work, labor-management, and the spreading of ideas by radio, movies, publishing and so on."

"Why? Because that's where subversives are most active."

"By 'subversives' we don't mean Communists alone. We mean those who are against what normal, decent Americans are for. Such things are divine truth and human integrity."

"Probably not more than one American in 100 is working against these things. But that adds up to more than 1,000,000 persons. It means that we'll need more than 1,000,000 Christophers."

I asked a couple of questions that a Protestant friend of mine had suggested: Is there opposition to the Christophers because their founder is a priest? Any suspicion that its aims are sectarian?

Father Keller smiled. "Why don't you look over some of our correspondence?" he said.

So I did. There were letters of support from Catholics; from a Methodist ministerial students in Georgetown, Texas; from an Episcopal sector in Beverly Hills, Calif.; from a Jewish television executive in Chicago.

I read the letters and others like them.

"Father," I asked, "are you going to get a million Christophers? Are they really going to change the world?"

"With God's help," said Father Keller promptly, "yes."

Industry Layoffs Tapering Off Now

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(UP)—The rate of new industrial layoffs is tapering off in most sections of the country, according to the bureau of employment security.

The bureau reported that new claims for unemployment benefits have dropped sharply in recent weeks and are at the lowest level since last November.

At the same time, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York said in Albany that unemployment conditions in his state "appear definitely to be on the mend."

Unemployment insurance claims dropped by more than 90,000 in the month preceding Aug. 18, he said. Dewey said his special advisory committee on unemployment looks for the number of claims to fall still further.

Robert C. Goodwin, director of the employment security, said new claims for unemployment help have dropped steadily with one exception since mid-July.

"This is an encouraging sign," he said, "since it indicates a steady slackening in the rate of new industrial layoffs in recent weeks."

Two engagements have been scheduled by the American Legion Quaker City band, with the Sebring golden anniversary parade set for Friday and a performance planned Sept. 8 in Columbiana.

The band will not rehearse Thursday, but uniforms will be issued from 8 to 8:30 p. m. Wednesday and at 6 p. m. Friday. The bus will leave the post home at 6:30 p. m. Friday for Sebring, according to Director George Chappell.

At the Columbiana homecoming next Thursday, the band will present a short pop concert. The homecoming event is sponsored by the Columbiana American Legion post.

FCC'S JONES ASKS MORE PUBLIC USE TO TEST COLOR TV

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Robert F. Jones, member of the Federal Communications commission, said today he wants to see color television widely tested by the general public.

He asserted that such tests, as contrasted to laboratory demonstrations handled by experts, are essential for the FCC to reach a decision on what to do about authorizing color operation.

The FCC will start hearings Sept. 26 on television operations.

Jones expressed his views in a continued exchange of correspondence with Dr. Frank Stanton, president of Columbia Broadcasting System.

Stanton said last week that his company has been doing everything possible to advance color video and that any inferences Jones may have had concerning a lack of effort by CBS were "entirely unfounded and unfair."

Wants More

The commissioner said in today's letter however, that he still wanted the color operation demonstrated in the field. He recalled that the commission had asked Columbia to provide a larger number of color receiving sets or converters to be placed in the hands of the public during current color televising experiments by WCBS in New York City.

"What the commission was aiming at," Jones wrote Stanton, "was to make sure that enough people observe color television to make a determination as to its feasibility and practicality."

"You profess your diligence in advocating your system, but from the standpoint of the commission's responsibility, we must know whether the ordinary layman can operate it."

"The description of the advances made by CBS in the field of color television, described in your letter of Aug. 25, impresses me greatly. Your letter, however, reminds me of the race horse, which, having run a fine race, suddenly balks at the finish line."

Dr. Stanton said last week that there were practical difficulties in obtaining large quantities of color receiving equipment to be placed for testing in the hands of the public. Equipment now employed in laboratory demonstrations, he said, is hand-made and very expensive.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Only six Ohioans of the 62,000 who have applied for unemployment compensation benefits since the amended law went into effect a week ago have refused to sign the loyalty oath it requires.

A seventh Ohioan refused at first to sign, then returned voluntarily and asked permission to sign the oath.

Canton, Cleveland, Toledo and Youngstown offices have encountered refusals; Akron, Cincinnati, Columbus and Dayton offices have not.

Explanation of the law was sufficient in most cases, local BUC officials said, to obtain cooperation of the applicant.

The BUC said the general sentiment could be summed up in a comment of a disabled war veteran:

"I resent having my loyalty questioned, but I believe that those who are loyal should stand up and be counted."

Burma War Windfall For U. S. Pilots Looking For Thrills

Boon For Former Fliers' But Hard On Some Necks

By DOUGLAS LACKERSTEEN

RANGOON, Burma, Aug. 31—(AP)—The Burmese civil war is providing a boon to former U. S. Army and Navy fliers here.

These Americans are doing a good business chartering their aircraft to the Burmese government for transport of soldiers, supplies and civil servants who otherwise would be grounded because of disrupted surface communications.

The young businessmen earn their money, though, dodging rebel bullets. Some of them have been captured (temporarily) by outlaws unexpectedly occupying airstrips in the hinterland after plane takeoffs from Rangoon.

In Burma there is no radio communication between towns or skyriding planes and their destination point. This absence of radio produces another hazard for the U. S. pilots—blind flying in a lashing monsoon.

Some of the Americans, ex-hump fliers, claim flying without radio during the monsoon is much more hazardous than crossing the hump between India and China.

Toughest In World

"Toughest flying in the world," is the way they put it.

Among the latest additions to the score of American airmen criss-crossing the Burmese skies are 28-year-old Captain Alfred R. Gibson of Indian Lake, Ohio, and J. F. Shoemaker of New York.

With their partner Aw Haw, millionaire son of the Chinese business tycoon Aw Boon Haw, Gibson and Shoemaker brought in Air Carriers Ltd. from Hong Kong on charter to the Burmese government.

They were given a plush assignment. Their C-46 is used exclusively by Kachin President Sinwa Duwa Sima Nawng for flights to his remote territory in the north of Burma where he is recruiting more Kachin soldiers to join the Burmese army.

Chief pilot of Air Carriers is Captain R. A. Stratford of Savannah, Ga., with Barney Kuhlmeier of Iowa as his co-pilot. An Australian, George Birmingham, is the radio operator.

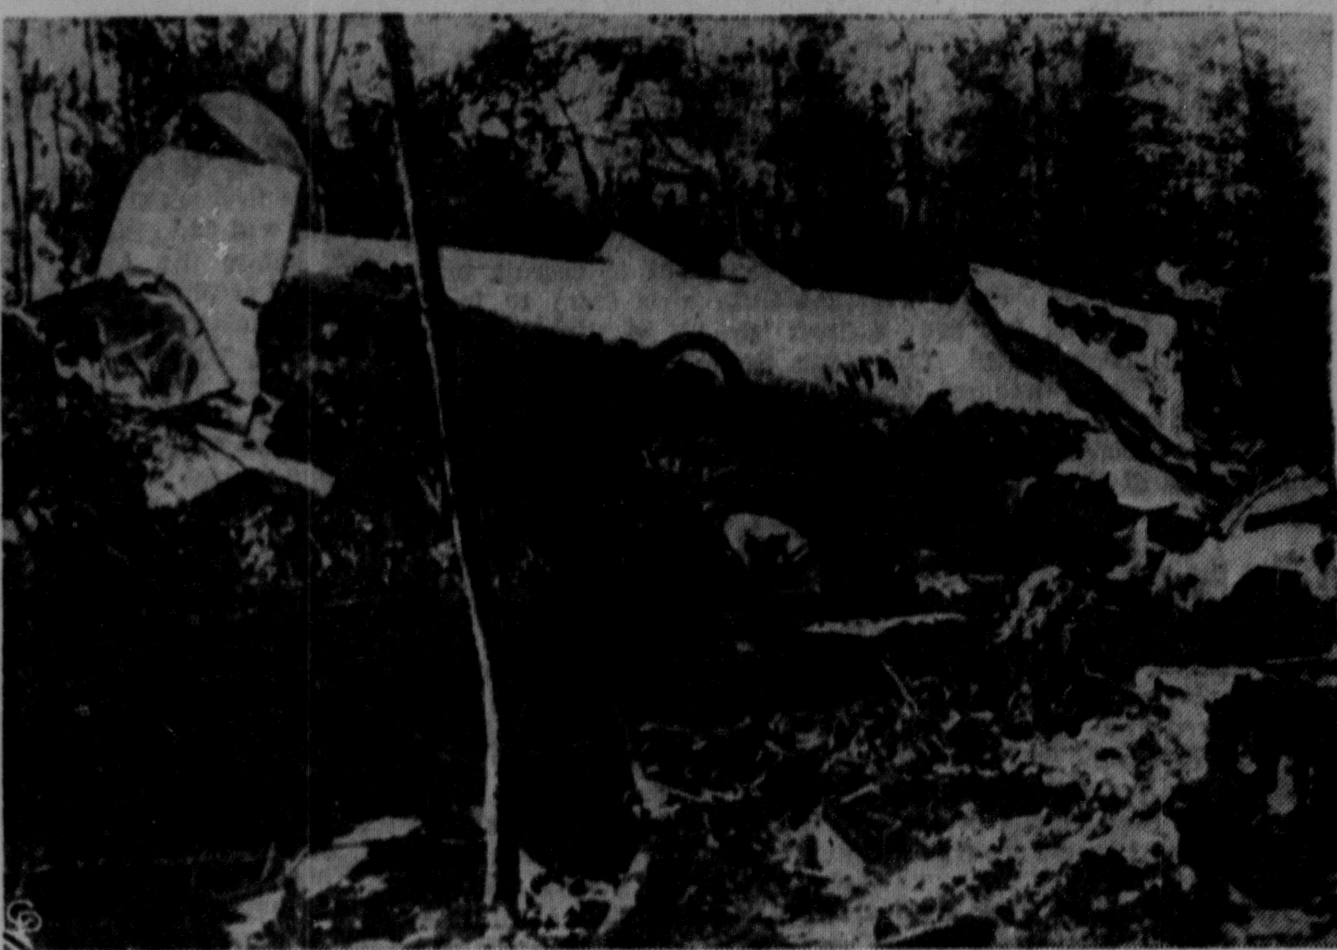

The Gibson-Shoemaker outfit hopes to extend its service by bringing in three more planes. Their four-month-old operation so far has been fairly uneventful.

In that they are more fortunate than Captain Ladd Moore of Marshall, Texas, 34-year-old director of operations for Indonesia airways. Moore, whose aircraft is under charter to the Burmese war office for carrying troops and ammunition has been hit three times while flying over rebel territory.

He said his narrowest escape came when rebels occupying the North Burma army base Meiktila hit his ammunition-laden plane.

"Actually," he said, "I was due to land the stuff at Meiktila, which was unable to warn Rangoon of the rebel attack. If only the rebels had held their fire, they would have captured me, my plane and the ammunition."

THE WRECKED CANADIAN "mercy plane," which was carrying polo victims and home-bound travelers when it crashed 150 miles north of Winnipeg, is shown where it plunged to earth in a sparsely-settled section of Manitoba. Twenty-one persons died when the ill-fated transport ploughed into the ground. (International)

Rev. Baxter To Preach At Columbiana Sunday

COLUMBIANA, Aug. 31—Rev. Franklin J. Baxter of Sandy Lake, Pa., has accepted the call recently extended him by the congregation of the Columbiana Christian church to become its pastor, and will assume the pastorate next Sunday.

He will preach in the morning at 11 o'clock. He had resigned at Sandy Lake.

Rev. Baxter is a graduate of Hiram college. Among churches he has served are those at Painesville and Sebring. In association with Rev. Robert Tuck of Wooster, a former pastor of the Columbiana church, he was a co-founder of Erieside at Cleveland, a youth camp for the Christian church denomination.

Rev. and Mrs. Baxter will move into the Columbiana parsonage after some repairs are completed. They have two married sons and a married daughter.

Rev. Donald G. Gregory and family will vacate the parsonage tomorrow to locate at Clettsburg, Ky., where he will assume the pastorate of the Christian church. He became pastor of the Columbiana church three years ago last March. Last spring when the present congregation celebrated the 50th anniversary of the dedication of the church, he prepared a valuable history of the church in Columbiana. In the early 1880s, the first organization, then known as the Disciple church, was disbanded, and the present organization was effected in 1898.

Past Governor Speaks

Superintendent Russell Strausser of the Louisville schools, past district governor of Rotary, was the speaker at the meeting of the Columbiana club Monday evening. His subject was "Club Service." "A good Rotarian has the ideal of service in his character—an unselfish attitude in this seemingly selfish world," said Strausser.

Diesel Traffic Slowed

East-bound Diesel trains on the P. R. R. were slowed down and some of them stopped here from about 1 o'clock for a couple of hours Tuesday morning. In raising the wires to higher poles along the site of the new steel products plant being erected west of town, linemen had drawn the signal wire too taut, and it was snapped by the jarring of train traffic, which disrupted the signal service both for trains and highway traffic at the crossing. The signal crew from Alliance had to be called. The railroad switch is being laid and water well is being drilled on the site.

NEW SNOW-WHITE SUITS PROTECT YOU IN BLAZES

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—(AP)—You can walk into raging fire, with flames licking your entire body, and live there comfortably for more than two minutes in a new snow-white suit out of the Aero Medical laboratory.

This suit, the first and only one yet made, was shown to the Aero Medical association today by the laboratory's doctors from Wright Field, Ohio.

The purpose is rescue work in the blazing gasoline of wrecked airplanes.

The suit withstands 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit for up to three minutes. Then you come out to cool down, but only the suit needs cooling.

The snow suit has 18 layers, which pile up to a thickness of about half an inch.

The first two outer layers are fiber glass, which is white as driven snow, and the whiteness reflects away some of the heat. The third layer down is silver foil. The burnished silver also deflects the heat, and the metal won't melt even at 2,000 degrees.

Then follow layers of glass cloth, in zones of three to four each, interspersed with aluminum foil.

Layer number 17 is coal black fiber glass coated with neoprene. Black absorbs heat.

This layer close to the skin absorbs the heat from your body.

The Aero medical men say a man can remain comfortable in this suit for over two hours during a heat wave in the 90's. This seems to be a tip for manufacturers of hot-weather clothes.

The final inner layer is nylon, not used because of heat resistance, but to make it easy to slide into the suit with fire-regulation speed.

WALL STREET BECOMING CONCERNED OVER APPROACHING STRIKE IN STEEL

By THEODORE KOSLOW
NEW YORK — (INS) — Wall street is beginning to view seriously the possibility of a strike in the steel industry, with the date for a decision by the fact-finding panel looming ever closer.

The stock market has just declined to new low ground on the reaction from the nine-weeks-long summer advance. Steel issues were among the poorest acting issues on the sell-off.

Many financial observers doubt that the market would be performing as poorly as it has been of late were there not some well-founded doubts that the steel industry will resist recommendations of the fact-finding panel.

On that score, there is a general unanimity of opinion that the panel will recommend some concessions to union demands for higher wages and fringe benefits.

Strike Approaches
Unless an agreement is reached, a strike can start Sept. 14, the first in steel since 1946.

With the big auto, shipbuilding and electrical workers' unions on the sidelines waiting to see what happens in steel, government officials are admittedly apprehensive over the outcome.

Meantime, as the long-drawn-out hearings before the steel industry fact-finding panel consisting of Dr. Carroll R. Daugherty, Samuel I. Rosenman and David L. Cole draw to a close, the board will have to weigh the pros and cons of the union demand for an increase of 30 cents an hour.

This sum includes 11.23 cents for pensions, 6.27 cents for social insurance and 12.5 cents for pay envelopes.

The issue has been argued before the panel since July 28. Throughout all this time, neither side has deviated one iota from its position for and against the increases sought.

The union has based its stand on five main points. They are: First, the ability to pay. The Steelworkers have argued that the industry chalked up record profits in the first quarter of 1949 after a decade of unprecedented prosperity. The steel industry, has asserted that the profit picture has been exaggerated and distorted, and that in any event it cannot pay future costs from past operations.

Second, the need of the employees.

The union has contended that need justifies a wage increase, declaring that union members have less buying power than in 1944.

As against this, the industry argued that wages since 1940 have jumped 100 percent, compared with a living cost rise of 68.9 percent.

Third, productivity.

The union has insisted that productivity of the Steelworker has risen 49.5 percent in ten years and that pay envelopes have not shared fairly in this result.

On the other hand, the industry has asserted that the union's productivity figures are exaggerated.

Fourth, insurance and pensions.

The industry has contended that pensions cannot be argued for under terms of the present contract which does not expire until next year. However, as to social insurance, the U. S. Steel Corporation presented a counterproposal which was turned down as inadequate by the union.

Fifth, impact on the national economy.

The union has insisted that a wage increase can be granted without rising prices and is urgently needed to provide the mass purchasing power to stave off a major depression.

The industry has declared that a wage increase would be inflationary and would cause unemployment.

With opposing factions in the dispute showing little disposition to meet on common ground as the crucial deadline approaches, it is hardly to be wondered that Wall Street and Washington are becoming increasingly concerned over the outcome.

Sen. Bridges Hits Van Horn's Attitude

CONCORD, N. H., Aug. 31—(AP)—Ezra Van Horn, operators' trustee of the United Mine Workers welfare fund, was accused of "obstructionism" last night by U. S. Sen. Bridges (R-NH).

Bridges, neutral trustee, charged that Van Horn tried to "hamstring" the fund.

He made the accusations in reply to Van Horn's charge that the New Hampshire senator and UMW President John L. Lewis had set up an "unsound" fund. Lewis is the union trustee.

Bridges said he was "proud" that he voted with Lewis to make the fund effective.

"When Van Horn blocked every move to allow the fund to function," Bridges said, "I voted with Lewis to break the tie so the fund could do its job."

Reached at his Cleveland office, Van Horn said he did not care to "answer" Senator Bridges' accusations, but would "stand on my statement of last Friday before the senate banking and currency committee."

Van Horn told the committee then that Lewis and Bridges were operating the fund "with a total disregard of the opinions and views I have expressed." The fund, he predicted then, "will be out of existence before very long, unless there is a substantial change made in the management thereof."

Inez Robb Shocked By 75 Majorettes Needed at Game

By INEZ ROBB
NEW YORK — (INS) — The cloistered existence I lead as a newspaper reporter is now and has been for years a source of continuing amazement to me. The things that go on in this country!

Until I sashayed down to Charleston, W. Va., to see a North-South High school football game, I never dreamed that baton twirling and derriers wagging had become indispensable components of the great autumn madness.

Has Run Away
But the twirling and the wagging in these latter days have quite run away with the game.

For, while it took only the standard 22 players to man the game, it required the unremitting efforts of 75 (count 'em) drum majorettes and a drum major, especially imported for the occasion, to get it started and keep it going.

Apparently, I am just discovering that football today is inextricably mixed up with vaudeville, if not burlesque. Naturally, in recent years I have been unable to avoid being terrorized by the sight of drum majorettes in newsreels and in picture magazines.

But the sight of 75 drum majorettes in the flesh and all in a minimum of clothing, all swinging batons and wagging in time to a band, has chilled me more than any sight I have seen in years.

At football can't stand on its own any more, if it has to be sold with a package that includes burlesque, okay. But let's recruit professionals to do the strip before the game and between halves.

Let's have the decency and the good taste not to recruit innocent little girls from 10 to 17, dress 'em up in tight bodices with three inches of skirt and encourage them to make an exhibition of themselves doing a 1949 version of the shimmy for the edification of goats young and old in the bleachers.

Should Have Better Sense
I avoid mention of the collegiate girl drum majorette. I am convinced that by the time a girl is in college she ought to have enough taste and sense to avoid such nonsense or else be apprenticed to Miss Gypsy Rose Lee or a reform school.

Some churches have already put their collective feet down about bathing beauty contests. For my money, they can find an even more fertile field for missionary work among drum majorettes, a group whose collective clothing wouldn't suffice to flag a bread wagon.

My eyes were opened to the vast extent of this baton madness by Don Poynter, 24, of Cincinnati, the twirling champ imported to give an exhibition of drum majoring and its allied arts at the North-South game.

Schools in baton twirling are in operation all over the United States, said Poynter, who is now in New York peddling a book,

"Two Baton Twirling," he has written as a text for students.

He gets $3 per hour for private lessons and $1.50 per hour for class work. At the moment, he has a hundred pupils.

Is Expert
A small, compact young man with curly brown hair and bright brown eyes, he has been a baton expert ever since he gave the stick its first whirl when he was 15. He was Ohio State champ in 1943, before the Army claimed him, and second in a recent Chicago musical festival.

Poynter, who was just graduated from the University of Cincinnati last June, is now the old master who can twirl three flaming batons at once or chill the blood by doing his baton tricks with a machete.

The candy kid with the baton, he can twirl 'em on a tight wire, a unicycle or stilts.

But Poynter is a smart young man. He sees no future in baton twirling for a college grad. Right now he is in New York to sell his book and find outlets for the log cabin he is already manufacturing in Cincinnati.

When I asked Poynter why drum majors always wore the army uniforms and why drum majorettes wear only as much as they can get by with, he had a ready answer. He said:

"Their legs are prettier," and then he lowered his voice and added: "And besides, girls are just natural show-offs."

TURNPIKE LAW IS EFFECTIVE

Governor Can Now Appoint Commission To Plan New Highways

COLUMBUS, Aug. 31—(AP)—A new law creating an Ohio Turnpike commission that may construct with private capital toll roads in the state similar to the famed Pennsylvania turnpike becomes effective today.

Enacted earlier this year by the legislature, the law gives Gov. Frank J. Lausche authority to appoint four members of a five-member commission to construct and maintain the turnpike.

The fifth member will be the state highway director.

The commission has authority to issue revenue bonds to finance the superhighways and costs of the commission's operation. Under the law, the bonds will not be considered a debt against the state. They are payable solely from revenues derived from tolls charged on the highways.

Must Be Divided
The four commission members to be appointed by the governor must include two Democrats and two Republicans. Each member—except the state highway director—will receive $5,000 a year plus expenses. Each will have a bond of $25,000.

The first appointments will be for staggered terms—two, four, six and eight years. Thereafter, terms will be for eight years. The senate must confirm the governor's appointees.

The commission is authorized to hire a secretary-treasurer who will be bonded for $50,000, but the law sets no limit on his salary.

Under the law, the commission will have the right of eminent domain, meaning it may condemn and buy land for turnpikes.

During the hearings on the bill before the legislature, it was proposed that one of the first turnpikes be constructed across 234 miles of northern Ohio. It would connect with an extended Pennsylvania Turnpike at about Peersburg, eight miles south of Youngstown and run south of Cleveland and Toledo. It would probably end in Van Wert county. It was estimated to cost about $200,000,000.

The governor has the power to approve or reject the commission's selection of a route for any turnpike it wants to build.

After all bonds and debts of the commission on any turnpike are paid off, The superhighway will become a part of the state highway system.

FLOWERING PLANT, FERN LIFE OFFER AID IN STUDIES

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 31—(AP)—Beautiful ferns and flowering plants are providing science with new tools in studies aimed at helping unravel the mystery of human cancer, a Harvard biologist said today.

Dr. Ralph H. Wetmore said recently developed techniques employing such plants opened up the possibility of studying certain aspects of growth and development in a manner now impossible or difficult.

Provide Better Means
Plants provide a better means than animals for studying certain subtle changes in tissue development that may occur as a result of various influences that can be brought to bear by researchers, he said.

"And it is the hope of various investigators carrying on such studies," he added, "that they will lead to new insight into the particular factors involved in producing the wild growth of cells known as cancer."

Dr. Wetmore made the statements in an interview on the eve of a symposium to be held at Connecticut college here by the Society of Study of Development and Growth.

The Harvard scientist is president of the society—the only scientific organization in the world specifically dedicated to the study of growth, both normal and abnormal.

Here For Study
More than 100 American and European scientists are here for four-day discussion which Wetmore said would embrace, among others, such subjects as:

1. The role, in growth, of body chemicals known as "nucleoproteins";

These are complex substances that occur in the "nuclei" or cores of all body cells. It is believed they are a main constituent of "genes"—the tiny carrier of hereditary traits in the body. It is believed, too, that nucleoproteins are close to being the very "keystone" of life—That is, substances that are right at the barrier between matter that is living and that which is not.

2. The challenging problem of human, animal and plant "hormones": These are chemical "messengers" which are associated with many important processes in living systems, but their true nature and mode of action constitute one of the big question marks of science.

Growth hormones and chemicals have made possible the new cancer studies employing ferns and flowering plants, Wetmore said.

The largest strictly rural hospital in the United States is Grace hospital at Banner Elk, N. C.

SALEM CHILDREN really enjoyed themselves on Monday when the Junior Chamber of Commerce, with the cooperation of 102 local motorists, took 604 boys and girls to Cleveland Municipal stadium to see the double-header between the Cleveland Indians and Boston.

The Salem News photographer went along on the trip and captured this sequence of pictures. From left to right—Carl Bloor of R. D. 1, Paul Hepler of 1250 S. Lincoln ave., Lee Cranmer of Martin's drive and Bob Hill of 196 S. Madison ave., sign up for the trip with Jaycee President James S. Jackson.

The next three photos show the motor caravan and the youngsters starting the trip from Vine ave. near the Memorial building, the boys and girls and their drivers as they queued up in front of the Cleveland Stadium, and, once inside the stadium the Salemites cheer and yell the Indians on to victory.

All good things must come to an end. Back home

Guessing by

DON E. BEATTIE
NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

Football season opens officially at Reilly stadium just two weeks from this Friday night. And you can find encouragement in the fact that Salem High's Quakers have that much time to show additional improvement before they tangle with vaunted New Philadelphia in the opener—one of the toughest here in years.

We say "additional improvement" because those charges of Ben Barrett are showing improvement every day. A lot was apparent yesterday morning when Ben's muscle men tested biceps again with the stalwarts from Canton Lincoln.

Johnny Fife's Canton outfit visited here last week and at that time Ben's Quakers weren't exactly a finished football team. Yesterday, however, some finesse and know-how began to appear, especially on Salem's defensive play.

Canton Lincoln tried its offense for about 25 straight plays in the latter part of the testing period Tuesday and Salem held them within a 20-yard area throughout.

You can mark it down that the kids looked good on defense. Of course, there are still things to be improved in that department. But, on the whole, the showing was much improved over a week ago.

Line backers are still prone to be sucked out of position and still aren't angling in the way Barrett wants them and a few linemen still seem a bit confused. But things are looking up.

At least, from the outburst Johnny Fife let loose over his team's offensive failures, one would gather that things were not as they should be with Lincoln's offense. And Salem's defense had something to do with that.

Salem still hasn't shown a truly speedy back. "Lige" Alexander made one 45-yard dash yesterday, all by himself, that figured on the impressive side. "Lige" is the boy who can do it if his improvement continues.

Salem's passing attack, built around Quarterbacks George Reash and Jim Callahan, looked very good for this early in the year. Lanky Jim is a good heaver and his tosses float into the right spot like an Otto Graham feather-throw. But there's still a problem of getting someone under them. Neither end looked too effective.

Barrett, just as he has been saying, is doing a lot of "fitting in" on offense and defense. Yesterday Fred Csepke was playing offensive center and defensive tackle. Bill Pasco was at tackle on offense and as fullback line backer on defense.

Don Loutzenhizer was being used as defensive center and as a guard on offense, although he still seems a bit slow on the offense, Barrett says.

In the backfield were Jim Ferrence and Joe Nocera, Bobby Theiss and Reash, with Callahan and Bruce Fredericks going in and out. Ferrence has been trying his talents as a line backer and is coming along okay.

YESTERDAY'S STARS
Batting: Gil Hodges, Dodgers—Blasted 21st homer with man on base in last of ninth for 4-3 edge over Pittsburgh.

Pitching: Ellis Kinder, Red Sox—Shut out Detroit with five hits, 4-0, snapping Tigers' eight-game win streak.

Charlie Keller of the Yankees has a .306 batting average for 19 World Series games. Among his 22 hits were five home runs.

YOUNGSTOWN G. F. HANGING TO TITLE IN SOFTBALL EVENT

YOUNGSTOWN, Aug. 31—(AP)—Youngstown General Fireproofing girded itself for pay-off play today in the 16th Ohio men's softball tournament.

The G. F. squad, which plans to hang on to the crown it won last year, continued its march towards another championship yesterday. It shaded Wayne Stahl's Texaco, 1-0, eliminating Wayne from the race.

Youngstown's one run came in the fourth inning without benefit of a hit. Two Wayne errors brought the game's only marker across the plate.

Wayne wasn't the only team out of the running today. Mansfield VFW Post 3494, washed out of its scheduled game last night with Youngstown Ajax Bar, could not play the postponed match today and had to forfeit.

But still very much in the double-elimination fight are Akron VFW Post 1070, Portsmouth Legion Post 23 and Youngstown Ajax.

Akron VFW will square off against Portsmouth today with the loser playing the winner of the Ajax-G. F. contest.

The victor in this game will play the Akron-Portsmouth game winner for the championship. But if the Akron-Portsmouth game winner is defeated, the two teams will have to stage a play-off for the crown.

Yesterday's Game
Youngstown G. F. 000 100 0—1 3 0
Wayne 000 000 0—2 3 0

HUNTING, TRAPPING LICENSES ON SALE

Approximately 600,000 hunting and trapping licenses for the 1949-50 season are now on sale throughout the state. The new license becomes effective Sept. 1.

Any owner of lands within the state who has been a resident of Ohio for one year, also the tenant or children of the tenant, or manager, if having resided within the state for one year, residing on such lands, may hunt or trap thereon without a hunting and trapping license.

All others are required to purchase and carry a license and display identification tag on middle of back while hunting or trapping.

Squirrel hunters will have the most immediate need for the new license. The season opens Sept. 15 and runs through Sept. 30, both dates inclusive. The daily bag limit will be four and possession limit four, no change from last year. Hunting hours will be from daylight to dark.

Again this year the hunting and trapping digest of rules and regulations will not be available until late in October.

The Wildlife council will delay official adoption of hunting and trapping laws until Sept. 9, following the completion of nesting and population surveys to determine as accurately as possible just how liberal the rules can be without killing off the brood stock.

Boosters To Meet Thursday Evening

Members of the Salem Boosters club are scheduled to meet at 7:30 p. m. sharp Thursday in the Memorial building to go over plans for the 1949 membership campaign.

Fritz Bichsel, president, said the meeting will be started on schedule and will be made brief so that Boosters can attend the playoffs at Reilly stadium, starting at 8.

Ticket distribution will be outlined, Bichsel said and reports made from several committee groups working on projects.

Gil Hodges Invaluable As Dodgers Pull Near Lead

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Thanks to Gil Hodges, the Brooklyn Dodgers are only a game and a half behind the St. Louis Cardinals in the rugged National league race.

Hodges, probably the best first baseman in the league although he is playing his first full season at the job, is giving Jackie Robinson a run for his money as the most valuable Dodger. He is hitting only .294, but his sense of timing is terrific.

Rex Barney, struggling to redeem himself, after flopping badly all season, trailed Murry Dickson 3-2 in the ninth inning yesterday when big Gil did his stuff. There was a runner on first and one out.

Hodges slammed a Dickson gopher ball special into the left field seats for his 21st homer to break up the ball game. That ruined Dickson's budding win streak and handed Pittsburgh a 4-3 loss.

The Cards' season-long "cou-sins," the Boston Braves, turned on their old tormentors to blast St. Louis, 12-4. In addition to the loss, the Cards were crippled by an injury to Pitcher Red Munger. The husky right-handed winner of 12 games left the game after he pulled a side muscle batting in the third.

Included in the 16-hit blast were homers by Jeff Heath, Bill Salkeld and Sibby Sisti.

Other National leaguers were idle.

The crippled New York Yankees lost a full game of their American league lead, which now measures three games, by dropping a 6-2 decision to the aroused St. Louis Browns. Runner-up Boston blanked Detroit, 3-0, behind Ellis Kinder to snap the Tigers' eight game win string.

Yankee Ed Lopat was knocked out in the fourth inning with Stan Spence's second straight double. Rookie Roy Sievers was the batting star, knocking in three Brownie runs to ease Al Papai's pitching job. Lopat's third inning homer was the only Yankee score off Papai until the seventh.

Kinder, almost a sure thing to join Mel Parnell in the 20-win club, picked up his 17th victory with a brilliant five-hit shutout of Detroit. Eight-game win streaks, owned by both the Tigers and Pitcher Fred Hutchinson, were fractured by the Red Sox attack that included Vern Stephens' 35th homer and No. 4 for Dom DiMaggio.

Cleveland's scheduled night game with the Philadelphia A's was washed out but the Tribe moved up a half game to within five games of the Yankees.

Washington's Lloyd Hittle turned in his best game since joining the Senators from Oakland in June when he shut out Chicago with three singles 1-0, in 10 innings. Bill Wright, his opponent, helped lose his own game with a wild throw in the tenth.

Rain Hits Playoffs Tuesday

Games Will Go Again At Reilly Stadium Today; Schedule the Same

Rain halted the Bliss-Salem VFW Shaughnessy playoff game in the fourth inning Tuesday at Reilly stadium, so the important playoff card for the league titles begins again tonight at the stadium.

The Bliss-VFW contest was a dilly when the rain stepped in. Both teams had been up four times and the score was still 0-0 with no indication of any scoring.

The same card goes again tonight, Class B games between Corso's Driveins and Sekelys at 5:45 and between Men About Town and Morris Oils at 6:45.

At 7:45 Bliss will begin again against the VFW followed at 8:45 by the Demings-Amvet classic. The best two games out of three makes either of the winners champion of its respective league. The league titlists meet for the city title in another two of three series.

In Class B playoffs last night the MAT defeated Morris 8-6 and Corso's won 9-2 over Sekelys.

Veteran Manager Strings With Yankees; Feels Sox, Cleveland Haven't Got It

CLEVELAND, Aug. 31—(AP)—injuries or no injuries, says venerable Connie Mack, New York's Yankees will win the American league pennant—and by a city block.

The white-haired pilot of the Philadelphia Athletics brought his club here for a three-game series with the desperate Cleveland Indians.

"I think the Yankees will win by a city block," he told reporters. "They've been up there all year and I believe they'll stay on top."

He discounted injuries to Tommy Henrich, the Yank's crack outfielder, and First Baseman Johnny Mize.

"They've had injuries to key men all season and often the replacement does a better job than the regular," Mack pointed out. "Henrich is a great ball player, but Hank Bauer or Cliff Mape will go in there and do a good job."

The grand old man of baseball said he believes that's the Yankees' secret—"they have depth, good men all the way down."

And as for Mize, whom the Yankees recently acquired from the New York Giants, Mack had this comment:

"He's still really untried in this league. They were winning before he arrived and probably will without him."

Mack's opinion of the second-place Boston Red Sox is that they just don't have the stuff to catch the Bombers.

Recalling their recent three-game loss to the third-place Indians, he said:

"It looked pretty good until they came into Cleveland, but I don't think those three lickings will do their spirits any good."

Cleveland, Mack remarked, is a "good ball club, but I'm afraid I'll have to string along with the Yankees."

The soft-spoken old gentleman isn't predicting anything for his fifth-place Athletics this year, but he cautions:

"There are a lot of fine players on my team, too. You'll be hearing from us next season."

Rain forced postponement of the series opener between the Athletics and Indians last night and a twilight-night double header was set for today.

Gene Bearden, who was pitching to his fourth batter when rain halted the contest in the first inning, will meet Carl Scheib of the Athletics in the initial game.

The Indians' Ernie Wynn and Southpaw Lou Brissie will tangle in the nightcap.

Dick Fowler, the crafty right-hander who has beaten the Tribe four times in a row, was to have pitched last night. When the game was rained out Mack decided to use him against Bob Lemon tomorrow. The game will be played at night instead of in the day as originally scheduled.

The Indians picked up a half-game on New York when the Yankees lost to St. Louis last night. The Yankees now are three games ahead of Boston and five ahead of Cleveland.

IN HOLLYWOOD

ond lead. Linda Darnell was the star.
For a year Cathy didn't even see a movie camera. Then her contract wasn't renewed. It wasn't at all like the agent from Hollywood said when he discovered Cathy with clothespins holding her together.

I know. An explanation quick. Every model knows the trick. When clothes are too big, they gather the material at the back and snap on the clothespins. Cathy had just snapped on a couple of clothespins on a dress a size too large when the agent said:

"You should be in pictures."
"I was so startled," Cathy said, "the clothespins snapped off and the dress almost fell off. I was so embarrassed I couldn't even speak."

In two years of free-lancing, Cathy has had leads in five pictures. She's thankful for that.

Perhaps He Smiled
But No One's Sure

CHICAGO—All the children at the party insisted Paul Sova smiled a little when he looked at his birthday cakes with its 11 candles. But they weren't really sure. You can't be sure of what a person with sleeping sickness can see or feel or hear. Paul, who has lived in a daze since January of 1945, sat propped up in his bed with the sideboards. All the neighborhood kids clustered around him. They fussed about how well he looked. He stared at them as though he heard—but no one could be sure. They sang "Happy Birthday" as the cake was brought in. A muscle in his solemn, childish face twitched. Maybe it was a smile. Maybe some day he'll be able to smile and see and feel like the youngsters at his birthday party. The doctors aren't too hopeful, though.

Federal Clamps Sought On Papa

Representative Seeks To Halt Fathers Leaving Homes, Families

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 — (AP)—A federal crackdown on "runaway fathers" was proposed today by Rep. Steed (D-Okla.).

Steed said many fathers are abandoning their children for the sole purpose of getting them on federal-state relief. In many cases, he added, the social security program actually is financing the break-up of homes.

Moreover, he told reporters, his own investigation has revealed
"an ever-increasing number of cases of actual conspiracy between the father and mother to get their children on the relief rolls."

Hunt For Work

But in the usual case, Steed said, the father tells his family he "is going away to hunt for work," and later "more often than not to be discovered in some far-off state living with another woman."

Therefore, the Oklahoman said, he is appealing to the house ju-diary committee for an early hearing on legislation to make it a federal criminal offense for a parent to desert a child and cross a state line.

"At least," he said, "we can see to it that those who are too sorry to support their own families can get put into jail while you and I support his family for him."

There now are 1,350,000 dependent children receiving an average of about $28 each monthly under the social security public assistance program. This relief, financed through money-matching arrangements among federal, state and local governments, is costing almost a half-billion dollars a year.

The house ways and means committee, at Steed's suggestion, already has taken one long step toward controlling abuse of this program.

The new social security bill the committee recently approved would make it mandatory for a welfare worker to report evidence of child desertion to the local prosecuting attorney. At present, welfare case records are confidential and cannot be taken to the prosecuting attorneys.

Typhoon Strikes Japan

Area At 80 MPH Rate

TOKYO, Aug. 31—(AP)—A typhoon with winds up to 80 miles an hour struck Tokyo tonight.

First Japanese reports said a steamer with 50 passengers aboard was missing off the China coast across Tokyo bay from this capital of about 4,000,000 residents.

No serious damage was reported immediately in Tokyo, where Gen. Douglas MacArthur and his occupation staff make their headquarters.

There were numerous power failures. The wind blew trees and telephone poles across streets.
Heavy rains accompanied the typhoon.

The United States harbor master in Yokohama, about 40 miles southeast of here, said the storm had not damaged shipping there.

ARMED AID FOR EUROPE NONSENSE

So Says Ohio's Taft In His Weekly Report To His Constituents

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—President Truman's program of arms aid to Europe is "nonsense," U.S.
Senator Robert A. Taft (R) of Ohio said today in a report to his constituents.

"In the European recovery program," Taft said, "we decided financial aid would enable the European countries to achieve much faster economic recovery and improved standards of living,
and thereby block Communism."

"It is clear that arms aid only can make it less effective for these purposes."

Admit Willingness

"The State department admits that the people of these countries unquestionably will accept further sacrifices required to permit sufficient funds to be realized from noninflationary sources to finance the internal cost of this increased military procedure."

"In short, the increased standard of living, which the ERP is supposed to produce, is to be cut by the military assistance program."

Taft accused Truman of "falling back on the old generalities" and "trying to smear opponents with the opprobrious epithet of isolationist" and added:

"Of course, isolationism hardly can be charged against anyone like myself who favors a warning to the U.S.S.R. that if they attack western Europe we will be in the war against them."

Dangerous to Economy

The increased American expenditure required by the arms aid program is "dangerous to the U.S.
economy," Taft said, because it would increase an existing deficit by another million dollars this year, "and no one knows how much in the future."

The "one essential for European recovery," he said, "is a prosperous America."

"I believe that the all-powerful American Air Force, equipped with the atomic bomb, is 10 times
the deterrent of the whole military assistance program," Taft declared.

"Yet, at the very moment the administration is insisting on scattering American arms in Europe, it is opposing the idea of a 70-group American Air Force."

FIFTY CHARGES OF MISCONDUCT
MADE BY GRANGE

NEWARK, Aug. 31—(AP)—
Fifty separate accusations of misconduct against Ohio Grange Master Joseph W. Fichter were filed last night by registered mail with a National Grange official.

E. Clark Morrow, counsel for the Fichter impeachment committee, announced.

The charges were mailed to Harry A. Caton of Coshocton, O.,
secretary of the National grange.
Morrow said, Caton, reached in Coshocton by telephone said he had not yet received the letter.

Morrow said the charges were made by Wade Moreland, member of Welch Hills grange No. 1971 in Licking county. Moreland is a past master of the Welch Hills grange and also of the Licking county Pomona grange.

Morrow reported each of the 50 alleged instances of misconduct were prejudicial to the best interests of the grange. He added the charges were filed in accordance with grange procedure.

No Comment

Fichter could not be reached last night or early today for comment on the reported filing of the charges.

Moreland filed the accusations on behalf of 1,248 grange members in Licking and 13 other counties who signed petitions asking Fichter's removal. Morrow reported. He added that under grange law the release of the specific accusations must come from National Grange headquarters in Washington.

Endorsers of Moreland's charges were Irwin Davis, master of the Granville grange, and Carl McKee, master of the Hanover grange, both in Licking county, Morrow said. Under grange law, charges asking removal of a state or national officer must be endorsed by two other grange members.

Under grange procedure, the accused must be given a copy of charges and offered an opportunity to defend himself. After the defense is filed, a permanent organization within the national grange, established for the purpose, hears the charges.

In addition to his office as state master, Fichter also is chaplain of the National grange.

If found guilty, the accused officer may be: (1) Expelled from the grange; (2) suspended indefinitely, with re-entry possible at a later date; (3) suspended for a stated period, or (4) reprimanded with an admonition not to repeat the offense.

Deaths

BRAMWELL C. HOLWICK

Funeral service was held this afternoon for Bramwell C. Holwick, 86, of Canton, a brother of W. L. Holwick of the Washingtonville rd.

Other survivors include his wife, Della; a daughter, Ethel; a son, Dale; and a sister, Mrs. Emma Varian of Canton.

Mr. Holwick went to Canton in 1880 as a $2-a-week grocery clerk, and was fireman and brakeman on the Pennsylvania railroad and school teacher at Fairhope in quick succession.

In 1889 he became cashier of the Pete Brother bank in Minerva, but returned to Canton shortly to buy a grocery. He later became a traveling salesman, after selling his store, and was associated with a Pittsburgh grocery firm, but in 1901 he joined the H. J. Heinz Co. as salesman. While with the Heinz company he developed a new type of meat grinder and coffee mill.

He left the Heinz company in 1907 to go into business for himself.

As many as 4,000 grinders a year were shipped to dealers in the United States and 74 foreign countries. The machines were manufactured under contract with the W. H. Schantz and Sons

Co. since 1921.

Mr. Holwick also was vice president and director of the Belkirk Brick Co. of Canton, and stockholder in the Congress Lake Country club.
